New Service Network Provides All-Male Dance Professionals for Dance Instruction, Choreography, and Performance

SUMMARY:

Man In Motion (www.maninmotionnyc.com), a network of male dance professionals, has launched operations in the Tri-State area by providing dance instructors and choreographers, arranging master classes and workshops, and delivering featured guest artists with impressive credentials and exceptional training.

NEW YORK (March 14, 2013) – In arts education and throughout the dance community, there has been a tremendous need for dance instructors and faculty, guest choreographers for regional/national dance competitions, stage and special events, and professional guest dancers to perform featured roles. Now, a new service has just launched that makes available a roster of all-male dance professionals to satisfy these needs throughout New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut.

Man In Motion (www.maninmotionnyc.com) is a network of male dance educators, choreographers, and artists headquartered in New York City. The network offers services that include, but are not limited to, providing dance instruction and choreography, arranging master classes and workshops, and delivering featured guest artists that have extensive training and experience.

“I saw a tremendous opportunity to bring highly qualified individuals together with the organizations that need their help,” said Jason Warley, owner of Man In Motion, who has more than 15 years’ experience as a dance educator. “Man In Motion was designed to be a quick and easy resource that supplies any group with some of the industry’s greatest dance educators and dance artists... and fortunately, we’ve been able to do just that.”

Man In Motion provides experienced dance instructors and private coaches to local dance studios, summer dance programs, or any other group or organization. The instructors offer a technique-based class to dancers of all ages and abilities, while guiding them on themes of strengthening technique, adaptation to movement and style, as well as choreography and performance.

The network’s dance professionals also facilitate master classes, workshops and summer dance programs. Services are designed for beginner through pre-professional level students with a strong focus on technique, choreography, and performance. Master classes and workshops can be held either at the group’s location or at a fully equipped, state-of-the-art facility in New York City.

In addition, Man In Motion can provide the services of a dynamic choreographer, in any genre, whose movement ideas are fresh and cutting-edge. Many of the network’s choreographers are also directors with knowledge of overall design and developing concepts through movement.

MIM’s professional male dancers are available as guest artists to cover featured roles in productions like The Nutcracker. For example, many of their soloists have performed as Cavalier/Prince, Snow King, Arabian Prince, and Rat King.

Many of Man In Motion's artists are degreed professionals who have attended programs, colleges, and universities such as The Julliard School, The Ailey/Fordham BFA Program, School of American Ballet, The Rock School, NYU/Tisch, and Broadway Dance Center.

The network's staff also includes those who have worked on Broadway, national tours and regional theater productions of Wicked, Chicago, Gypsy, The Lion King, Dreamgirls, The Life, and Little Shop of Horrors. In addition, many of the dancers have an extensive background in the concert dance industry, performing for professional dance companies such as New Jersey Ballet and BalletMet, and in the commercial dance industry with appearances on Fox TV's "So You Think You Can Dance" and NBC's hit series "Smash."
